Course Description

In this class, students will use tools based in the imagination, principles of design, and standard dramatic practice to create a unique, personal experience for an audience. Speech, whether we call it dramatic or declamatory, has the potential to move the masses. In this course, you will develop a personal approach and construct effective presentations that harness the power of their voice and body.

Learning Outcomes

After completing this course, you will be able to:

- Articulate the vital attributes of a successful speaker and presentation
- Articulate and implement personal strategies for the design and implementation of effective, dynamic presentations
- Define the attributes of audiences and tailoring to them

Learning Strategies and Resources

Some learning activities, assignments and deadlines will vary depending on the delivery format of the course and may differ slightly from what is presented in this document.

The learning activities for the course include:

- Performing in an art form and analyze the elements that contribute to proficiency
