Course Description

In this course, students use structured analysis and reflection, research and planning to create a professional development portfolio. Students learn strategies for reflecting, assessing strengths and growth opportunities, identifying support systems and agents, practicing smart goal setting, and attaining goals. Opportunities to return to this portfolio will be built into the major courses for purposes of ongoing assessment, reflection and planning.

Learning Outcomes

After completing this course, you will be able to:

- Developing knowledge for the kind of career you want to have
- Thinking through your strengths and fears or challenges
- Reflecting on who you are in the workplace and in life
- Identifying professional and personal support people in your network
- Understanding what career success means for you as an individual

Learning Strategies and Resources

Some learning activities, assignments and deadlines will vary depending on the delivery format of the course and may differ slightly from what is presented in this document.

Online discussion, role-playing, presentations, peer review, collaborative learning, research, creative activities, written reflection and analysis assignments, development of cloud-based professional portfolio, others determined by Instructor based on class needs.

Required Readings

All readings and resources for this course are free, available on the Internet, and will be available on D2L. There is no required textbook for this course.

Learning Deliverables

There are five modules, each have the following assignments assigned.

- Two written assignments
- Two discussion boards based on readings and videos

Class participation is a significant portion of creating a successful learning environment. You and your colleagues benefit from attendance and participation in order to create a community of learners. For an online course, this means making substantive contributions to the discussion boards. You and your colleagues will benefit from a robust conversation. If you face extenuating circumstances, you should communicate prior to the due date of an assignment and keep your instructor informed. This will help you stay on track.
