

INTRODUCTION to... THE GRADUATE FOCUS AREA LEARNING PLAN

Each student's Graduate Focus Area Learning Plan serves as both a "guide" through the MAAPS Program and a "platform" upon which the various parts are grounded and the student is able to build a dynamic integration (analysis & synthesis) of all parts with one another and as a whole.

The various audiences for the Graduate Focus Area Learning Plan include the following:

- (1) the Student (as his/her own audience!);
- (2) the Faculty Mentor;
- (3) the Professional Advisor;
- (4) the Graduate Student Program Review Committee (GSPRC);
- (5) the University; and,
- (6) anyone else with whom the student chooses to share the document.

▶ PART I: Area of Focus for Graduate Study

Your purpose in Part I is to provide your readers with a title for, and explanation of, the individualized area of focus that you propose to investigate in/through your graduate study. Your readers will include yourself, your faculty mentor, your eventual professional advisor and the graduate faculty serving on the Graduate Student Program Review Committee.

A. Focus Area TITLE:

In this section, please provide your readers with a brief title that describes your individualized Graduate Focus Area. It should include a core activity (doing what?) and a primary context (where?). As such, this title should be a phrase in length and be no longer than 75 characters (including spaces) in order to eventually appear on a University transcript. Example: "designing and implementing basket-weaving interventions in outer space."

B. Focus Area EXPLANATION:

In this section, please provide your readers with a detailed explanation of the title/phrase from "A" above---approaching it from each of the vantage points below. Here, please incorporate references to key professional and scholarly resources in your field in order to give your readers a fuller perspective of the area of study you have in mind. Part B should include the following five sections:

✓ Vantage Point #1: Defined Parts

Dissect your focus area title into its key words and phrases. Then, (a) briefly define each word and/or phrase—drawing from professional/scholarly literature (avoiding Wikipedia or general dictionaries); and, (b) briefly explain how these words/phrases relate to one another and to the context of your professional practice in this area. [1-2 pages in length]

✓ Vantage Point #2: Key Information Sources

Identify and briefly explain the key sources of information that inform each of the parts of the focus area as well as their combination into a focus area. Sources listed and explained should include: key contributors/authors/researchers, key professional/community associations, key professional books and journals, etc. [2-3 pages in length]

✓ Vantage Point #3: Key History/Foundations

Identify and briefly explain the conceptual/professional origin(s)/foundation(s) of this focus area—drawing from professional/scholarly literature. What are its historic strands or threads? On what is it based? [2-3 pages in length]

✓ Vantage Point #4: Key Evolutionary Trends

Identify and briefly explain the major issues/directions currently impacting this focus area—drawing from professional/scholarly literature. What are its trends/directions? Where does it seem to be headed? [2-3 pages in length]

✓ List of Resources Consulted

List and briefly annotate/explain each of the resources (books, databases, websites, informational interviews, etc.) you consulted in investigating the vantage points above. (Some of these resources may well have been identified within LLS-450 Finding and Assessing Information.) [1-2 pages in length]

▶ PART II: Personal/Professional Context

Your purpose in Part II is to provide your readers with an explanation of your background and goals with respect to your Focus Area as well as a description of the application setting where you'll apply learning throughout your graduate study. Your readers will include yourself, your faculty mentor, your eventual professional advisor and the graduate faculty serving on the Graduate Student Program Review Committee.

A. Personal/Professional BACKGROUND:

In this section, please provide your readers with a brief description/explanation of your personal/ professional background as it relates to your focus area. What have been the major milestones in your experience that have led you to pursue study in this area? [2-3 pages in length]

In this section, please provide your readers with a brief description/explanation of your professional goals as these relate to your focus area. What do you hope to accomplish through your graduate study? What contribution(s) do you hope to make regarding your focus area upon completion of your degree? [1-2 pages in length]

C. Application SETTING & ROLE:

In this section, please provide your readers with a brief description of the setting (work or otherwise) that will serve as the "laboratory" where you will apply learning regarding your focus area. What is your application setting and what is your role in this context? [1 page in length]

► PART IV: Plans for Culmination

Your purpose in Part IV is to identify which of the two Culmination Options you are currently considering. Your readers will include yourself, your faculty mentor, your eventual professional advisor and the graduate faculty serving on the Graduate Student Program Review Committee.

To be sure, Part IV's plans are held as tentative—pending further evolution and refinement as your study in the Focus Area progresses. As possible, you are encouraged to finalize your Culmination Option plans as early as possible in order to integrate all aspects of the Program together and, most directly, to use the earlier parts of your program to build toward the latter. (For a fuller description of Culmination Options, see Guidebook Section F.)
